

Lies

It's one of those little lies
The kind of words that never die
The kind of words that always shine
Shine as gold but is fake

It's one of those little lies
On which I close my eyes
It's just one of your little lies
So insignificant
But now I try, I try so hard

You're telling me that you're fine
You're life with me is not so bad
I try to relight the fire
But all I can relight is war

Now I realize that we are so far
Despite those little lie
But I keep my smile, I try not to cry
This is the lie of mine
I believe in you when you say it's true
You love me like I do
I'll be sweet to you when you want me to
One of my little lies

It's one of those little lies
On which I close my eyes
It's just one of your little lies
So insignificant
But now I try, I try so hard
To wake and say goodbye
To leave our lies behind
